

SJCC CELEBRATES THE 4TH AT THE SILVER DINER CAR SHOW

On July 4, 2013 the South Jersey Camaro Club rolled into the Silver Diner in Cherry Hill NJ to start the holiday celebration. The crew rolled in together, signed up, and went into the diner for a hardy breakfast. The show was put together by the Delaware Valley Old Goat Club, and hosted by the Silver Diner.

For a holiday morning there were more than 200+ vehicles in attendance. Not bad for a holiday morning.

Their club did a great job all day long to make sure the show was over before 1:00 in the afternoon. When trophies were awarded, four of our own came away as winners. Linda Murphy, Art Henry, Cliff Kaelin and Jim Wotring all went home with trophies for their respected classes.

All in all, a pretty good start to the day for SJCC. We are looking forward to next year...

RENAULT WINERY'S CAR SHOW

The day was a little overcast, but the 16 member of South Jersey Camaro weathered the storm. It turned out to be a hot sunny day with a few showers thron in for the hell of it. All in all it was a great day, as the club was awarded our first club participation trophy of this year (Jess Gould-Hurry accepted for the club)! Not Bad!!!

Not only did we win the club award, we had Chareles Gager, Mike Murphy, Al Burr, and Joe Cavallo taking home the hardware.

After the show, many stuck around and attended the Renault Winery Wine Festival, and I'm sure those members had a great time... Looking forward to next year.

NORWOOD INVITATIONAL

Jeff Masishin — As this was an “invitation only event”, organizer and author of his new book, Echoes of Norwood, Phil Borris had invited 24 owners, myself, and SJCC members Allison & Pete Stine to attend. The funny part was the only way I knew they were there was when another member of our club asked in an email “what’s everyone doing this weekend?” I answered what was on my agenda, and then Allison said “so am I”!! The rest is history as we spent time together. What is really amazing is that South Jersey Camaro Club had 2 of just 26 cars in attendance this event!

WOW! The GM Norwood Assembly Plant Reunion was in a word, unreal. Attended by both former union and non-union employees of General Motors, many workers stopped to admire “their car” and spoke proudly of them, almost like the parent of a child. One gentleman who worked at Norwood for 37 years pointed out many items of “his work”. When I invited him to sit in the car, on a seat that was 45 years old, he looked like a kid on Christmas morning.

I could sense the genuine pride that went into building these cars. The same gentleman from above said the 1969 Camaro was a “tough car to build as it was all steel”. When a Line Forman told him to speed up the welding to the rocker panel, he chooses to take an extra 7 seconds to “perfect” the job, he was doing. He also pointed out how he welded in the rear taillight panel and wheel housings too.

Also, the myth “not to buy a car that was made on a Monday or a Friday” is just that, a myth. From start to finish, a Norwood Camaro took 2½ days to build, so there really no cars that were built on those days.

The five-mile long assembly line was churning out 54 cars an hour...OMG!
